

Waterfall of clouds

PENTAX K-5 II s, 35.0 mm, f/8.0, 1/250 sec, ISO 80 | smc PENTAX-DA 35mm F2.4 AL | CC-BY-NC-ND-4.0

I've been meaning to post this picture for a while now, but I kept forgetting it. The scene is from La Palma, the Canary Island; if you get up early enough and get to the right spot, there's a high chance you'll be greeted by a constantly moving waterfall of clouds.

However: if you're at the same spot as us, than in the empty parking lot, you might find yourself feeding ravens instead who are friendly enough to land on your arm. Oh, and those pines smell absolutely wonderful when the weather is hot enough.

Created by Peter Molnar <mail@petermolnar.net>, published at 2021-04-26 09:00 UTC+01:00, last modified at 2021-10-31 15:57 UTC , to canonical URL <https://petermolnar.net/photo/waterfall-of-clouds/> , licensed under CC-BY-NC-ND-4.0 .