Mare Temporis^[1] is a historical re-enacting group, focusing on medieval Europe with some occasional additions. This scene was captured at an event in February, held at an artificial ice-skating place to celebrate the 500 year anniversary of crowning the famous Hungarian king, King Matthias.

Taking pictures for hours in February after you've nearly broken your wrist with a fall during ice-skating is a bit troublesome and painful, I would not really recommend it :)
